

Invest in your future – take advantage of special rates to take the Diploma in Dance Teaching and Learning (children and young people)

Join the 80 dance artists and practitioners training to take this new qualification devised especially by the dance sector for dance professionals who work, or wish to work, with children and young people beyond the School Curriculum.

Trinity College London is offering a special rate for candidates who register to take the Qualification this autumn, with a 30% discount on assessment fees. There could also be bursary support from training centres if you apply in time.

The training recognises the experience you already have and helps you to increase your teaching knowledge and skills in order to both develop as a practitioner and help progress your career.

Don't take our word for it – see what professionals currently training say:

"The Diploma in Dance Teaching and Learning has really given me confidence and a lot more insight into my own teaching and having the diploma on my CV will be really important for me." (Jess)

"The Diploma in Dance Teaching and Learning is really applicable to my genre of Breaking and Street Dance." (Dan)

"I feel that doing the Diploma will help with employment in the future and therefore my future career." (Sarah)

Sign up now: don't miss out!

See below for information on 3 of the training centres.

Note it doesn't matter where you live – all providers offer very flexible training packages so that you don't need to live locally to enrol.

Linda Jasper, Director of Youth Dance England said:

"Children and young people love to dance and there is a growing need to ensure that they are always provided with fully trained and qualified teachers and leaders. This Diploma provides a benchmark for dance artists and practitioners who are already working, or would like to work, with children and young people beyond statutory education. Youth Dance England as part of the Dance Training and Accreditation Partnership (DTAP) is firmly committed to supporting this industry-led qualification for the benefit of children and young people, parent/guardians and employers."
